UNIVERSITY OF PENNSYLVANIA OPENED.

PROVOST HARRISON TALKS TO THE STUDENTS ON THE NEED OF HONESTY IN POLITICS.

Philadelphia Sept. 25.—The fall session of the col-lege department of the University of Pennsylvania opened to-day with the largest number of students in the history of the institution. The college fresh-man class numbers about 200. The other departments open next Thursday, and the total number of students at the university will be about 2,800. Prevest Charles C. Harrison, in addressing the students to-day, referred to the political campaign

I will not refer to the public questions which are agitating this Nation at this time, further than to say that you yourselves will soon have to take your part in deciding these or other questions, and to say that when your time shall have come to fight under the banner of our university. I hope that that lanner may have inscribed upon it the words of one of our Frestdents: "The true art of government is the art of being honest." Let me add that not only does the true art of government consist in being honest, but the true art of living in every walk of life is the same. I want the influence of this university felt throughout the length and hreadth of the land, and how can it be felt except through you, its students? You are the ones who must carry, wheresoever you go, the torch of enlighterement and honor and truth.

Detective Beauselom, of Rotterdam, was the next witness. He described the arrest of Kearney and Haines. When they were searched the police found in their possession receipted bills for nitric and sulphuric acids and absorbent clay. In a bag is longing to Haines were found twelve bombs. When asked how it came about that they had these bombs in their possession they said that an unknown man had given them to them. They then refused to answer any further questions. Dynamite carridges were found beneath Kearney's pillow in his room, and torn letters signed Edward Bell. *

The examination was then adjourned for two weeks.

TYNAN CONDEMNED IN DEFAULT.

HIS EXTRADITION.

Parts, Sept. 25. The demand of the British Gov rnment for the extradition of Patrick J. Tynan, the alleged leader of the dynamite conspiracy discovered by British detectives, who was arrested on September 13 at Boulogne-sur-Mer, is based upon the fact that he was condemned in default for the part he is alleged to have taken in the murders of Lord Frederick Cavendish and Mr. Burke in Phoesinx Park, Dablin, in 1883.

The demand for his surrender made some years ago when he was in France, which demand was refused by the French Government, was based merely on a suspicion that he was implicated in the Dublin assassinations.
